HOW TO USE THE CREATED PROMPTS

1. Understanding What a Prompt Is

A prompt is a detailed instruction you give to an AI image or video generator to create a specific visual.

Think of it as your “director’s note” — the more vivid and specific your description, the closer the AI’s output will match your vision.

2. The Structure of a Good Cinematic Prompt

Every cinematic prompt we created is built with five key components:

1. Subject & Action – Who or what is the focus, and what are they doing?
Example: “A confident young businesswoman walking through a glass hallway”
2. Setting & Environment – Where is it taking place?
Example: “Inside a modern corporate skyscraper lobby with marble floors”
3. Camera Technique & Lens – The cinematic style you want.
Example: “Shot on a Sony FX6 with a 35mm f/1.8 lens, shallow depth of field”
4. Lighting & Mood – The emotion, color tone, and light style.
Example: “Warm golden-hour sunlight streaming through tall windows”
5. Post-Processing & Effects – Final visual touch.
Example: “High dynamic range, cinematic color grading, subtle film grain”

When combined, these form a complete, generator-ready instruction.

3. How to Use These Prompts with an AI Generator

Step 1: Choose a prompt from the collection that matches your theme.

Step 2: Paste the prompt into your AI tool's text input box.

Step 3: Adjust keywords if you want more personalization — e.g., swap “blonde” for “dark-haired”, or change “urban night scene” to “tropical sunset”.

Step 4: Select the resolution (e.g., 4K or 8K) if the tool allows.

Step 5: Generate the image or video.

4. Customizing a Prompt for Your Brand

- Change the character: Adjust ethnicity, gender, or age to suit your story.
- Modify the setting: Move the scene from a corporate boardroom to an outdoor café.
- Switch the camera style: From crane shot to handheld for a more dynamic feel.
- Adapt the lighting: From cinematic noir to bright documentary-style.

This way, one prompt can produce hundreds of variations without losing quality.

5. Tips for Best Results

- ✓ Keep the subject clear and prominent in the description.
- ✓ Use specific adjectives rather than vague ones (“emerald silk dress” instead of “nice dress”).
- ✓ Don't overload with too many conflicting styles in one prompt.
- ✓ If your tool supports seed numbers, use them to get consistent results.
- ✓ Save your favorite variations so you can refine and reuse them.

6. Example in Action

Original Prompt:

“Ultra-realistic cinematic corporate portrait of a confident young CEO standing in a sunlit office, Canon EOS R5 with 85mm f/1.4 lens, perfect lighting balance, sharp focus on eyes, subtle background bokeh, cinematic color grading, high dynamic range, fine fabric detail, 8K resolution.”

Modified Prompt for Personal Brand:

“Ultra-realistic cinematic portrait of a young Nigerian female tech founder in a modern co-working space, shot with a Sony Venice 2 and 50mm f/1.2 lens, soft golden-hour light, professional styling, warm tones, gentle lens flare, 8K resolution.”

7. Final Words

The prompts in this collection are not just descriptions — they are storyboards in words.

Treat them like scripts, and the AI will be your camera crew.

Experiment, adjust, and soon, you'll have a library of visuals perfectly matched to your creative vision.
